

Kayla Johnson

Kayla Johnson began dancing at the age of one and hasn't stopped since. As the daughter of a dance teacher, she has grown up in the dance studio both training and assisting. Kayla is currently a sophomore Commercial Dance Major at Pace University with a concentration in Choreography and a minor in Arts and Entertainment Management. She has performed in regional theaters as leads for productions of The Nutcracker and has been featured in videos sponsored by Netflix and Target. She toured as an assistant for ASH (Artists Simply Human) for two seasons, 2014-2015 and 2016-2017. She is one of only two dancers ever to be chosen twice to assist this dance convention. While on tour, Kayla worked closely with many well known choreographers, such as Desmond Richardson, Rudy Abreu, JoJo Gomez, Tokyo, Dee Caspary, Judy Rice, Dwight Rhoden, and many more. Kayla has competed both regionally and nationally and has consistently been awarded top scores for solo and group pieces. Kayla's choreography has also been regionally recognized with several choreography awards. Kayla is excited to share her passion for dance and choreography with Miss Tutu's dancers.
